

After having escaped from the terrible jungle, Conan finally arrives where the Tigress was, to discover with horror that the entire crew has been annihilated. The bodies have been ripped off by ferocious jaws and around the place, there are traces of footprints. Rabid hyenas' footprints.

Conan regrets not getting on time and decides to look for her beloved on the ship.

"Conan came silently upon the pier, approaching the galley on whose deck it was suspended something that glimmered ivory-white on the faint twilight. Speechless, the Cimmerian looked on the Queen of the Black Coast as she hung from the yard-arm of her own galley. Between the yard and her white throat stretched a line of crimson clots that shone like blood in the gray light". Robert E. Howard.

He screams with anger and despair knowing that he failed her. And a thirst for revenge grows in him.

Now he understood everything, the visions caused by the Black Lotus were not hallucinations but a sample of what had happened in that place, and now Conan knew that the only way to get out of that jungle alive was to finish with that winged monster, the last of his kind, to avenge the death of the Queen of the Black Coast.

Conan armed himself with the weapons of his fallen comrades and climbed high on the ruins with a bow and arrows to defend himself from his enemies and kill them.

Finally, from every corner of the jungle echoes the laughter of the hyenas, and from above the winged beast prepares itself for the final encounter.
